TOUR NAME

La Spezia Bike Tour

For guests that love sports, Tellaro is the star of this bike ride – a multicoloured village that clings to the rugged eastern edge of the Gulf of La Spezia. First, though, you'll cycle up to the pindrop-quiet mountain village of Pitelli. The views are well worth the climb – the next part of the ride skims along the hillside to forest-shrouded Pugliola, which serves up views right across the sea. You're putting the well-trod tourist track at your back here, so expect peace and quiet in droves. Finally, you'll come across the star of the show, Tellaro. This village perches on steep cliffs in a jumble of satsuma-shaded houses and terracotta-topped churches. You'll have plenty of time to explore this postcard-pretty town. There's one more place on the to-see list before heading back to port – Lerici, a seaside town with a towering harbourside castle.
